WELCOME WORDS TO WOMEN.

Women who suffer with disorders peculiar to their sex should write to Dr. Pierce and receive from him a special prescription of over forty years' experience—a skillful and successful specialist in the diseases of women. Every letter has the most careful consideration and is regarded as a sacred confidence. Many sensitively modest women write fully to Dr. Pierce what they would shrink from telling to their local physician. The local physician is pretty sure to say that he cannot do anything without "an examination." Dr. Pierce holds that these distasteful examinations are generally needless, and that no woman, except in rare cases, should submit to them.

Dr. Pierce's treatment cures in the privacy of your home. His "Favorite Prescription" has cured hundreds of thousands of bad cases. It is the only medicine of its kind that is the product of a regularly graduated physician. Some unscrupulous medicine dealers may offer you a substitute. Don't take it. Don't trifle with your health. Write to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.—take his advice and be well.

Mrs. R. D. Monfort, of Lebanon, Warren Co., O., writes: "I have received the 'Medical Adviser.' A crisp, new five dollar bill could not tempt me to part with it." On receipt of 21 one-cent stamps, to pay cost of mailing only, we will send you a copy of Dr. Pierce's great 1000-page book, "The Common Sense Medical Adviser." Or, for 31 stamps the same in cloth binding. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

DISCRIMINATING LADIES.

Enjoy Using Herpelide on Account of Its Distinctiveness.

The ladies who have used Newbro's Herpelide speak of it in the highest terms, for its quick effect in cleansing the scalp of dandruff and also for its excellence as a general hair-dressing. It makes the scalp feel fresh and it allays that itching which dandruff will cause. Newbro's Herpelide effectively cures dandruff, as it destroys the germ that causes it. The same germ causes hair to fall out, and later baldness. In killing it, Herpelide stops falling hair and prevents baldness. It is also an ideal hair dressing. For it lends an aristocratic charm to the hair that is quite distinctive. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to The Herpelide Co., Detroit, Mich.

PAUL JONES'S BODY.

The remarkable search which Ambassador Porter has conducted for the body of Paul Jones has been crowned with success by the discovery of the body and its identification yesterday by the highest French medical experts as unquestionably that of the famous American admiral who founded the American navy.

Ambassador Porter cabled the news to Washington last night. The body is in a good state of preservation, considering that the internment took place over 100 years ago.

The circumstances leading to the discovery are particularly interesting. General Porter had conducted the search for five years, and when Congress recently took no action upon the President's recommendation for the expenses incident to the search the Ambassador continued the extensive labors at his own expense. A large force of workmen had been engaged night and day tunneling and cross-tunneling the old St. Louis Cemetery in Paris, this constituted a huge operation, embracing nearly a block covered with buildings and requiring a system of subterranean mining.

Hundreds of wooden coffins were found, but not until Wednesday were unearthed four of lead, which gave promise of containing the body of the Admiral. Three of them bore plates designating the names of the deceased. The fourth showed superior solidity of workmanship. No plate was found on this coffin, and it is supposed it was removed when another coffin was put upon it. The lead coffin was opened in the presence of General Porter, Colonel Bailly-Blanchard, the second secretary of the American Embassy, and Engineer Weiss, who has been directing the excavation. The body was found to be well preserved, owing to its being immersed in alcohol. It was wrapped in a sheet, with a packing of straw and hay. Those present were immediately struck by the resemblance of the head to that on the medallions and busts of the Admiral.

As was anticipated, no uniform, decoration or sword was found, as all such articles had been accounted for after the burial.

The coffin is shaped like a mummy coffin, which pattern was common at that period, widening from the feet to the shoulders, with a round top fitting over the head.

The coffin was taken to the Medical School, where Drs. Capitan and Papillaut, distinguished professors of the school of anthropology and recognized authorities on such investigations, were charged with making a thorough examination for the purpose of identification. To facilitate this the Ambassadors furnished them with portraits and medallions, two busts with Houdin and authentic descriptions of the color of the Admiral's hair and the height and measurements of his body. After the most minute examination the following facts were fully substantiated:

Length of the body—Five feet seven inches; the Admiral's exact height.

Size and shape of the head—Agree with several peculiarities identified with the head of the Admiral.

Hair—Dark brown, the same as the Admiral's; in places slightly gray, indicating a person of his age—45 years.

The hair is long, reaching below the shoulders, and combed back and gathered in a clasp at the back of the neck.

The face is clean-shaven, all corresponding exactly with the descriptions, portraits and busts of the Admiral.

The lines in good condition. One article bears an initial, either "J" or an inverted "P."

The body was carefully packed. The limbs were wrapped in tinfoil, presumably for sea transportation, as indicated in a letter of the Admiral's nearest friend and a pallbearer at his funeral, Colonel Blackden, who said: "His body was put in a leaden coffin, so that in case the United States, which he had so essentially served, should claim his remains, they might be more easily removed."

Finding that all the internal organs were singularly well preserved, the doctors made an autopsy, which showed distinct proof of the disease from which the Admiral is known to have died. The identification was pronounced complete in every particular.

Care has been taken to keep the body in its present state of preservation. It will be placed in a handsome coffin and deposited in the receiving vault of the American Church, on the Avenue de l'Alma, until the Ambassador can learn the opinion of his government concerning the most appropriate means of transporting it to the United States and giving it fitting sepulcher.

It is probable that a recommendation will be made to Congress at its next session looking to Ambassador Porter's reimbursement. The remains of John Paul Jones are to be brought to Washington and interred in the National Cemetery at Arlington, and it is likely that the transfer will be made the occasion of an interesting demonstration.

Last year, when the search for the body was begun, Mr. Moody, then Secretary of the Navy, stated that if the body were found this government would send a battleship to France to convey it to this country. It is not doubted that

Secretary Morton will fulfill the promise then made.

It was said last night that in case it is decided to send a squadron to European waters this summer the body probably will be brought home on the flagship of that squadron.

It is true that in my contract colds and recover from them without taking any precaution or treatment, and a knowledge of this fact leads others to take their chances instead of giving their colds the needed attention.
